Re : CVSA

I am writing this letter to inform you of the enormous success our police department is experiencing since we have obtained the computer voice stress analyzer . In 2008 I attended the Certified Examiners Course with instructor Micheal Mcquillan . His teaching ability and knowledge of truth verification exams is above reproach . Like any new tool in law enforcement I admit that I was a little skeptical upon first returning to my department . That skepticism no longer exists and I am writing this letter to inform you how versatile and accurate this instrument has proven to be. Most recently on 7-16-2009 I was contacted by the local District Attorneys Office and requested to conduct an examination on a 29 year old male who was arrested for raping his five year old son . The suspect had convinced his family , defense attorney, and sadly many of the prosecutors that he was an innocent man wrongfully accused . With no physical evidence in the case a confession was crucial due to the fact of the subject possibly being released with a judicial order. I conducted the examination strictly utilizing the protocols as taught by the NITV. Immediately I knew the subject was deceptive to the relevant questions asked during the examination. I confronted the suspect with my findings and subsequently the suspect provided me with a complete confession. This was astounding to both the prosecution and defense involved in the case. Without the CVSA this individual would no doubt have been released and continued to prey upon children without detection . It is my experience with the CVSA that if examiners adhere to the protocols set forth in the Certified Examiners Course when conducting examinations the instrument will produce extremely accurate results . My department continues to rely on the CVSA for both criminal cases and pre employment screening . Time and time again the CVSA has assisted me and the department in identifying the deceptive and exonerating the innocent . I am writing this letter to you authorizing you and your company to utilize this success story in any of your literature or website postings . I am proud to be a Certified Examiner and look forward to future training with the NITV .

Sincerely

Chad Jeansonne Chief of Detectives
